

What We Need More Of

we are the ones who are responsible for
our survival
not just the survival of one person or one thousand
look past the borders
maybe the person who is farthest from you
is really
right there
but you just can't see them

you can try all you want to become a better person by being alone but haven't you ever heard that humans
are social creatures?
look past yourself
maybe you can become a better person by helping others others will help you too
it doesn't hurt
to trust a little

look past differences maybe it's the whole globe that needs you

all colors, genders, beliefs, voices, they break us apart
because they're so defining but they don't define every part of you
these colors, genders, beliefs, voices, regardless of what exactly they are, unite here on Earth
that's just how powerful we are

i sometimes think about how large this planet is and how all of us are really the same size
there's no reason to feel superior or inferior
above all, there needs to be more human equality